William Loeb, Jr., Esquire,

Secretary to the President, Washington.

My dear Sir:-

I take the liberty to send to you herewith for the President, a copy of a periodical containing an article by myself. It would mean much to me to feel that my contribution had reached the eye of the President. I should, therefore, appreciate highly your courtesy in placing it before him.

Desiring to add nothing to the burdens of yourself or of your secretaries, may I assure you that the receipt of this letter and of the enclosed periodical require no acknowledgment. None will be expected.

I have the honor to remain

Yours very truly,

Chas Cheney Hyde
