To the President of the United States.

My dear Mr. President:

I see by today's paper that the Japanese were caught photographing the field guns in the parade in memory of General Sigel.
This is simply a repetition of many similar incidents I have observed regarding these deceitful and spying tricky people. I have lived in Japan, and know.

With few exceptions,

every man and woman reports regularly to the home government, where records are kept in most minute details.

No secrets can be withheld from the Japanese government as long as the officers on our battleships insist upon having Japanese servants, who are really educated naval spies.

I return to my home
1096 Broad St.,
Newark, New Jersey
in three weeks.

I thank you for the privilege of addressing you.

Yours very truly,
Howard Robotham
